An amazing combination of love, steam and humour. Everyone is so fantastically crazy and absolutely lovable. Lexi, a city girl from London, has to go with her family to Lilac Bay to visit her Grammy for the whole summer. And she definitely hates this idea: no friends, no bars, no clubs, no shopping. Though she loves her grandma, she is not thrilled with the idea of spending her summer in a village. Fortunately for her her old friend Jen resurface and they manage to reconnect, so now this vacation doesn't sound that bad. And with the appearance of Alec, the local playboy, Grammy's help and the best friend of Jen's boyfriend, the situation gets even more interesting, since Lexi doesn't fancy an idea of 1. a summer romance; 2. a one night-stand; 3. being another notch on Alec's bedpost. But the problem is, these stormy blue eyes of his shake her world up more than she wants to admit. Alec, on the other hand, is on his way to change his way of life for Lexi and isn't afraid to show it. The question is, of course, whether Lexi will loosen up and decides that she can enjoy some romance in her life, esp. since she is apparently surrounded by Cupids. I loved how you could "see" into Lexi's head and get the way she thinks, proceeds information and makes decisions, especially when she decides to go for it. Alec is a flirt, but not an offensive one. The way he tried to get through Alexis's defenses was appropriate and very sweet. No overboard stuff, but just some little things and yeah, I'm totally crushing on him now ;)) Jen is slightly more crazy than the rest of the gang and she has a hilarious way with words. Since I do not want to give any spoilers, the only thing to add it's a light read with a great "cast" of main and supporting characters. I will read it again ;)

Die 17-jährige Alexis aus London verbringt die Sommerferien vor der Universität widerwillig an der Küste bei ihrer Grossmutter Vi. Dort arbeitet der attraktive Mädchen-Vernascher Alec im Garten. Die Beiden können auf Dauer ihrer gegenseitigen Anziehung nicht widerstehen. Die Geschichte ist voller Platituden und Stereotypen-Spoiler: der Bad Boy, welcher der widerspenstigen, aber lieben Jungfrau nicht widerstehen kann, die sterbende, ach so geliebte Grossmutter, der nervige, geliebte Bruder. Seltsam, dass nahe Verwandte ein junges Mädchen zu sexuellen Beziehungen mit dem Bad Boy aufstacheln. Spoilerende. Der Schreibstil ist etwas langsam und brav, wirkt lüchlich und wenig spritzig, weist keine Spannung auf. Etwas langweilig. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. sehr schnes Buch . Von Sommer Christina Die Bücher von Emma Hart gefallen mir sehr gut, weil sie für mich alles haben was unterhaltsame Buch braucht ..

KurzbeschreibungNow includes HOLDING ON, a Memories series novella New Adult Contemporary Romance - Only intended for readers age 17+ due to sexual situations and strong language. A city girl. A small town boy. A summer they'll never forget. Spending the summer at her Grammy's in Lilac Bay, Devon, is city girl Alexis 'Lexy' Edwards' idea of hell. That is, until she reconnects with her childhood friend, Jen, and meets Alec Johnson. Alec is the kind of guy Lexy knows she needs to stay away from. He's the village flirt, ridiculously hot and very dangerous to her self control. But there's a problem she can't seem to keep him out, even though she knows he'll break her heart. As Alec slowly strips away Lexy's defences and the two embark on a summer romance she never wanted, their feelings grow to more than either expected. But nothing lasts forever, and reality intrudes. As her world is shaken to its core, Lexy's self made prediction comes true when she discovers she's spent six weeks surrounded by secrets. Kept out by her family and the only guy she's ever trusted, she falls apart. And when Grammy tells her that 'you might not end up where you wanted to be, but you'll always end up where you're meant to be,' she has to figure out if her meant to be is back home in London, or if it's been in Devon the whole time. HOLDING ON: Living in London after spending almost twenty years in a town with a population of three hundred would be hard on anyone and Alec Johnson is no exception to the rule. When Alec followed Lexy to London, he knew his life would change drastically. He just didn't know how much. With Lexy's friends and admirer to contend with, he has to show there's more to the country surfer boy than his ability to ride the waves. With his own shameless admirers, he has to keep Lexy's trust and despite her love for him, that's no easy task. Beneath her tough girl exterior, all Jennifer Mason has ever wanted to do is paint. London's School of Art can give her that, and she couldn't be happier she's finally breaking free from Lilac Bay. What she's not happy about is having to leave Carl behind or his reluctance to visit her while she's studying. Their relationship is put to the test as living on her own for the first time and university take their toll on Jen. After all, three hundred miles is a long way to be away from your boyfriend when you're eighteen years old. And it's even harder when you can't keep your eyes off your best friend's older brother.
