he knew he must have her- even if only for a single night...Powerful, ruthless, seductive- the lord of London's underworld Roman Merrick gets everything he wants....and he burns for Charlotte Chatsworth, a polished jewel in the glittering ton. So he engages her debt-ridden gambler father in a game of chance, wagering 10000 Pounds against one night with the man's exquisite daughter. And Roman Merrick never loses. But one night is never enough...Charlotte is devastated to learn that her reprobate father has lost her in a card game to the most dangerous man she's ever met. Charlotte embarks upon a perilous path with the man she cannot forget. But in truth, it's Roman who has everything to lose- for a game undertaken for pleasure alone soon has him gambling his heart. And love and passion unleashed could bring his great, dark empire tumbling down...Ich fand den Klappentext nicht so gelungen, weil Sachen so wie sie dort angedeutet werden nicht 1:1 in der Geschichte vorkommen. Manchmal fand ich Mallory's Beschreibungen etwas verwirrend, aber nicht weiter störend. Das Lesevergnügen mindert es keineswegs. Mir hat das Buch ausgesprochen gut gefallen. Es gibt nicht so viele leidenschaftliche Szenen wie in den meisten Büchern des Genres und es dauert auch recht lange bis sich Charlotte und Roman überhaupt näher kommen. Aber das hat mich nicht gestört. Ich fand die Charaktere toll und sehr überzeugend. Sie haben Tiefgang und wirken nicht aufgesetzt oder krampfhaft künstlich kreiert. Was mir besonders gut gefallen hat war das Spiel zwischen Charlotte und Roman. Roman versucht Charlotte für sich einzunehmen ohne dass ihr das bewusst wird. Und obwohl Charlotte nicht weiß was genau Roman im Schilde führt lässt sie sich auf sein Spiel ein. Dieser spielerische Charakter zieht sich durch ihre gesamte Beziehung. Was mir noch gut gefallen hat war der Umgang mit dem Thema der Klassenunterschiede. Sehr realistisch und überzeugend. Ein tolles Buch, das ich nicht aus der Hand legen konnte.
