Von Emma V. Leech : The Dark Heart (The French Fae Legend Book 2) (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Dark Heart (The French Fae Legend Book 2) (English Edition):

KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. AN EXCELLENT READVon CustomerThe Dark Heart, by author Emma V. Leech, is the second installment in the Les Fes: The French Fae Legend series and it's a total keeper.There aren't enough words to describe this wonderful book so I'll just keep it plain and simple:Romantic. Beautiful. Magical. Powerful. Emotional.Although this was a fantasy read I couldn't ignore the fact that the story felt real. From the emotions the characters felt to the Fae Lands the author lovingly created- I was spellbound. It doesn't happen often, but this book swept me off my feet and I ended up wanting nothing more than to pack my toothbrush and move to where the Elves lived. The rocky road Emma V. Leech sent her characters on was bumpy and had me hoping, wishing for Corin and Claudette to find their Happily Ever After. At first Corin needed a wife. He found one and thought she was a good choice. He knew it wouldn't be completely easy but he still had faith that everything would turn out just fine. Until something like love crept its way into his soul. I have to admit- I wasn't Corin's biggest fan when his character was first introduced (which was in The Key to Erebus) but now I'm all #TeamCorin. His character was everything I expect a Hero to be, and so much more. Corin, the Prince, with so much untouched power, beautiful looks and a silver tongue, knew his way around women. He's the type of male women would most definitely start wars over (in and outside of the bedroom, if you know what I mean.). A total proper swoon-worthy Hero and he wanted only 1 woman. Claudette. "let us not Play games, Ma belle, you are mine now. " - Corin Albrecht Claudette (Heroine) was a 19 year old who had a simple life until Corin re-entered the picture. She was one of the most strong-headed characters I've had the pleasure to come across in a story. What I loved most about her character was how she grew with her tasks. She had no clue what was to happen with her yet she allowed it to happen and grew so strong, even I was proud of her. In my humble opinion- Corin and Claudette are one of the fantasy genres perfect couple. Their journey was hard, but so worth it. It's more than obvious that I adored this story, but what really touched me was the author's ability to show me the magic. There's a lot of hocus pocus in fantasy but nothing compares to what Emma V. Leech has created. The world is a better place thanks to her colorful imagination and her ability to share the pictures she creates for us readers. But- my personal highlight was finding bits and pieces from The Little Prince, by Antoine de Saint-Exupry, in The Dark Heart. My heart swelled at the sight. An outstanding read and I cannot wait for the next book to be released. The Cover: 5 stars (It's simple and doesn't give a lot away. Neither does the title, which I love) The Characters: 5 stars (Corin, Claudette, Laen, Oceane, the Queen,... especially the Queen, All perfect.) The Story: 5 stars (really, it doesn't get any better than this one.) My emotional state after finishing this story: Emotionally drained from the angst (oh yeah, the end was something totally powerful), In love. I'm giving The Dark Heart, by the fabulous Emma V. Leech, 5 out of 5 stars. Don't miss out on this one. I promise you won't regret it.

ber den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende As a child I spent more time than I'm going to admit to wishing I was Samantha from Bewitched. Yet despite hours spent perfecting the nose twitch; sadly I have to say that - so far at least - no magical ability has been discovered. Now I have to say it's looking unlikely, but remain hopeful. I was born in Kent in the UK and moved to France in 1998. I currently live, according to my husband, in LALA land but the rest of the time in the middle of nowhere in darkest Dordogne, as far from the real world as possible. I'm married with three daughters and a wild imagination. I like Tarot cards and anything creepy... except spiders. I worship at the altar of Florence + the Machine and am addicted to music, as long as it's LOUD! I love chocolate, think The Wizard of Oz is the scariest film I've ever seen and still believe in faeries ;) For more info about my work check out my website www.emmavleech.com Twitter: @EmmaVLeech LaDameBlanche24 <https://www.facebook.com/EmmaVLeech?ref=hl> <http://www.wattpad.com/user/LaDameBlanche>
