review. I immediately fell in love with the plot and with the amazing characters that the author introduced in this novel. The story unravels in Brighton (UK) and Corfu (Greece). These are two of the most magnificent places in the world for me. The times are 1937 and 1987 and the story moves very elegantly to various other locations. The Lady in the Pier has now become one of my favorite reads. The author interweaves a mixture of emotions, such as romance, friendship, fame, family and heartbreak in a masterful way to keep the reader glued to the pages. I am a romance author and this was the kind of book I wanted to spend time reading and enjoying. The amazing characters of Laura Mayfield, her mother Ruth, Sophia Aspioti, Christian Seale, Charles the Viscount, a childhood friend Danny Markson and so many others stole my heart. Laura and her mother chose to start their life in Brighton where Laura falls in love with Christian, while Sophia finds love and excitement in Corfu. The romance is wonderful and the charm of the places holds you hooked to the pages from cover to cover. My interest picked at the mystery of Sophia's dreams. The enigmatic lady in black of the Brighton Pier, that haunts her day in and day out. Who is that woman? Why her presents distress her is such a way? What is the significance of the pier? The author does an amazing job in providing an intriguing story that will keep you hungry for more. I love how the author cleverly interlinks the main two characters Laura and Sophia. They are two totally different people who find love and excitement in totally different places, at totally different times, but they are connected by the same fate. I just love the book. Effrosyni Moschoudi is a delightful and very talented author with a fascinating imagination that provides a very well written book with an exciting plot. The pace of the story is just right and provides a clear view of the lives and emotions of her story characters. I would recommend this book to any person who loves to be enchanted by a novel, who enjoys adventure and who loves romance and mystery. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. A compelling read! Von Karen O. With The Lady of the Pier: The Ebb, Effrosyni Moschoudi has created the promising start of a paranormal romance series: The Lady of the Pier. The Lady of the Pier: The Ebb is an entertaining and fast read, making you want to read more. I was drawn into the story right away. I felt close to what happened in both times and countries. All relevant characters became so real that I reacted to them. Effrosyni's descriptions create a live sensation i.e. you easily see, hear, and smell. I have never before felt this burning wish to visit Greece and/or Corfu. It makes sense that both threads end with a cliffhanger. In this case I do not mind at all, knowing that the next volume will solve what I do not know, yet. Moreover, the cliffhangers give the readers the great opportunity to imagine what might come to pass. This is a book to read again; and the start of a series to be looking forward to.

Kurzbeschreibung When Sofia falls in love, a mourning spirit begins to haunt her... CORFU, GREECE, 1987 On a long holiday with her grandparents, Sofia Aspioti meets Danny Markson, a charming flirt who makes her laugh. Although she tries to keep him at arm's length, worried that village gossip will get back to her strict family, she falls desperately in love. That's when strange dreams about Brighton's West Pier and a woman dressed in black begin to haunt her. Who is this grieving woman? And how is her lament related to Sofia's feelings for Danny? BRIGHTON, ENGLAND, 1937 Dreaming of wealth and happiness, Laura Mayfield arrives in Brighton to pursue a new life. She falls for Christian Searle, a happy-go-lucky stagehand at the West Pier theatre, but when she's offered a chance to perform there, her love for him is put to the test. Charles Willard, a wealthy aristocrat, is fascinated by her and pursues her relentlessly. Will Laura choose love...or money? "Ms. Moschoudi is proving to be a skilled storyteller who takes her readers on a wonderful ride." ~David M. Wind, author of Queen of Knights "Reading Ms Moschoudi's work is like visiting a friend. You are so wrapped up in the story that you don't want it to end!" ~Julie Blaskie, reviewer "I could feel the warm sun and sandy beaches even on a cold dreary day." ~Helen Johnson Brumbaugh, reviewer The Ebb is feel good, summer holiday read. Its two timelines begin to merge in The Flow and finally become one story in The Storm. Although The Ebb creates a strong premise for the rest of the series it has a satisfactory ending and can be an enjoyable standalone read. Effrosyni Moschoudi was born and raised in Athens, Greece. Having spent twenty years doing office work in Greece and England, she's gained precious insights into human behavior—the good, the wonderful and the just plain awful—that often finds its way into her novels. She's been writing since childhood and is passionate about books and movies. She lives in a quaint seaside town near Athens with her husband Andy and a naughty cat called Felix.
